Deformities in Developing Nations

Why is the need so extreme?

For the poor in developing nations, accessing necessary medical and surgical care is extremely difficult due to their remote location, lack of medical facilities and financial constraints. Conditions that would be treated in the early stages in developed nations grow to the point of being life-threatening. The consequence for many is a lifetime of disability, rejection and sometimes even death.

In West Africa, few countries have functional healthcare systems, which include hospitals, clinics, medical providers, etc. According to the World Health Organization, there is a critical shortage of all types of medical providers in developing nations. Due to the lack of general and specialized healthcare, general surgical needs, such as hernias and goiters, plague this region's adult and pediatric populations.

Mercy Ships programs offer holistic support to developing nations, striving to make healthcare accessible for all.

For more than 40 years, Mercy Ships has been delivering medical excellence with integrity and compassion to countries with the world's worst medical systems.

Surgery

Mercy Ships seeks to relieve the burden of disease and affliction among the poor and outcast by providing specialized, corrective surgical interventions, such as hernias and goiters, through the General Surgery program. Mercy Ships works in partnership with local and national governments, as well as with a variety of partners and physicians in the country, to provide specialized surgeries that will facilitate life-enhancing and, in many cases, life-saving transformations.

Recovery & Counselling

Patients recuperate under world-class care in the ship's hospital ward and outpatient care in the Hope Center, where they are also provided with opportunity for moral and spiritual support. Mercy Ships aims to provide a caring, holistic environment to facilitate patient recovery.

Accomplishment

Through all of the surgical programs, Mercy Ships has performed more than 89,000 life-changing or life-saving operations including hernia repairs and tumor removals.
